A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN.

Just Published, in a Sealed Envelope. Price six cents.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment
and Radical Cure of Syphilis, or the Venereal Disease, its various forms,
Secondary Venereal, Involuntary Emissions,
Sexual Depravity, and Impediments to Marriage;
generally; Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy,
and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity,
resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J.
GREENE, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable
Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience
that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse
may be effectively removed without medicine
and without dangerous surgical operations,
boogies, instruments, rings, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter
what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. This Lecture will prove a boon to THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.
Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain
sealed envelope, on the receipt of six cents,
and two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Greene's
"Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address
the publishers,

What Becomes of "Manhood Suffrage."

A New York dispatch to the Western papers says—

A movement is on foot here among Republicans for the organization of a new party restricting the elective franchise by requiring a certain amount of intelligence, and totally reconstructing naturalization laws. This city is so completely in the hands of foreigners,
that this movement, if pursued, will be reactionary. It is thought it will spread and become formidable on account of the men connected with it.

So the shoe of universal suffrage is beginning to pinch. None of our New York friends felt the pain while conferring the South to a universal suffrage
of ignorant and semi-barbarous blacks.
They never had a word of remonstrance
against that awful outrage against common sense and public safety. Negro suffrage was good enough for us, but
Irish and Dutch suffrage will not do for them.

Gentlemen of the manhood suffrage party—you have told us so long and loudly that suffrage is not a political privilege, but a natural right of man—
you have gone too far to help yourselves.
You are looking to us for remedy. You are fairly committed, not only to Irish, Dutch, and negro suffrage, but the Indians and John Chinamen are yet to come in for this God-ordained right of manhood. We don't see but what you will have to fight it out on that line, and take the consequences.

An Attempt to Murder.

We invite special attention to the card of the excellent and reliable firm of Edwin Bates & Co., wholesale dealers in Dry Goods & Clothing, of Charleston, S. C. Formerly there was considerable wholesale trade, in the various lines, between Charleston and this section of country, much to our advantage; and now, with the convenience and advantage of direct and unbroken railroad communication, we are glad to see it reviving. Give this firm a trial and see if you cannot do as well or better than in New York, and at the same time assist in repairing the ruin of our much loved South.

Public Meeting.

The citizens of Jacksonville and vicinity are requested to meet at the Court-house, at one o'clock, on Monday next, 8th inst. on business connected with the Railroad connection from Atlanta to this place, and thence to Decatur, Ala.

FARMERS AND MECHANICS MEETING.—By some oversight, the day for the adjourned meeting was not mentioned in the published proceedings in our last paper.

We are now requested to state that the next meeting will take place at the Court-house on Saturday the 20th of February, 1869. The two Committees will meet on Tuesday the 16th Feb. in order, to prepare their reports to be submitted to the meeting.

Let no one who feels the slightest interest in the prosperity of the country, or the great enterprises contemplated for the day, or fail to attend. The ball is now in motion—keep it rolling until we have at least one or two splendid factories in or near Jacksonville. There is no better location in the State—no better or surer investment. What one cannot do, perhaps ten can; and if not ten, perhaps one hundred—"where there is a will there is a way."

The smallpox is reported to be very severe in the Western cities. It is asserted that the number of deaths from this disease has been unprecedentedly great in Cincinnati. Smallpox is declared to be an epidemic in St. Louis; it is scourging Chicago, though nothing is said about it in the newspapers, and in Milwaukee the public schools and the risk have been closed in consequence, and the shutting up of theatres, concert saloons and other places where large numbers of persons assemble, has been discussed.

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY.—A murder, followed by most melancholy results, lately occurred near Columbus, Miss. A young man named Demsey was murdered by one J. Hamton. Young Demsey was an only son, and his father, on hearing of his tragical death, was so overwhelmed with the grief that he dropped dead where he stood. Another member of the family, a daughter, bravely, though stricken with grief, started after the body of her brother. Returning to the house, she found that her mother was also dead of a broken heart, and dressed ready for burial.

TO PREPARE COTTON SEED FOR MANURE.—Mr. Gideon W. Dowse in the Southern Cultivator, gives the following plan for preparing cotton seed manure, and preventing the immense loss of ammonia by gradual evaporation from the old-fashioned seed pile, thus retaining it in muck as the most valuable of all food for plants:
I hauled the muck directly to the field, and made pens ten at intervals. Having determined what distance I wished the plants to stand, and how much manure to the hill, it was an easy matter to determine the bulk necessary to each pen to manure an acre. I then put the cotton seed one inch thick all over the pen, then six inches of muck evenly over the seed—thus in alternate layers of one seed to five of muck, until four feet high—the muck being the top layer.

And now for the result. When the banks were opened, there was not a vestige of seed to be seen—not a particle of unpleasant odor, even when handled and put to the nose. The whole mass perfectly friable and had an oily appearance—all going to show that I had accomplished what is most desirable in all manure, so fixed the ammonia that it was fully secured as food for the growing plant. The land to which it was applied was very old and exhausted by long and shallow culture, that when I began to plant it, three hundred pounds of cotton, or four bushels of corn to the acre. That year, subsiding the land applying about one quart of the above compost to the hill, gave me twenty five bushels to the acre. I have used it, frequently on corn and cotton since always with the most satisfactory results. I am satisfied that with deep and thorough disintegration of the subsoil in preparing land, frequent and light stirring of the surface in cultivation, and with muck and cotton seed compost we need neither Peruvian or any other guano to bring our old lands up to 30 bushels of corn or 500 pounds of lint cotton per acre. I have for years wished to give this experiment to my brother planters, and have been deterred hitherto by the fear of intruding upon space that might be occupied by a more valuable article.

DEATH OF CULLEN BAKER.

This man who has probably caused more excitement and committed more crimes than any man of modern times, has at last fallen, and the country breathes free once more.

The circumstances of his death are as follows:

About four weeks since, he went to the house of his brother-in-law, Mr. Thos Orr, in Lafayette county, Ark, and breaking down the door, took Mr. Orr and their father-in-law, Mr. Wm. Foster, tied their hands behind them and kept them during the night. Next morning he hung Mr. Orr until he supposed he was dead, when he cut him down to get the rope to hang another man. This man was finally released by some of Baker's men, Mr. Orr recovered after Baker and his party left. Mr. Foster they released about 12 o'clock that day. On the 6th of January Baker and a man named Kirby came into the settlement again, and Mr. Orr, with a few friends, determined to kill him or sacrifice their lives in the attempt. They rushed on him and succeeded in killing him about 11 o'clock, A. M.—The man Kirby was also killed. Their bodies reached this city yesterday evening about 6 o'clock, and large numbers of persons are congregated around the tent where the bodies lie. Baker's corpse has been fully identified by many who had known him. Thus ends the career of a man who has kept a whole country in terror for months, and Mr. Orr deserves and will receive the thanks of mankind for his action in ridding the state of a man who had declared himself the enemy of his race. The above facts we get from Mr. Orr in person.—Jefferson (Texas) Impartial.

The defeat of Morrill, of Maine; the other day, is the work of that celebrated whirling of time that brings its revenges. A few years since, Morrill, on the question of admitting Mr. Stockton, of New Jersey, to the seat to which he had been elected, paired off with a sick Senator, Mr. Wright, of New Jersey. When the vote was taken, one Radical was necessary to exclude Stockton, and Morrill violated his Senatorial and personal honor and gave the requisite vote. He is now left out, and Mr. Stockton is or will be elected. So mote it be. Nashville Union.

A man in getting out of an omnibus a few days ago, made use of the two rows of knees as balusters to steady himself, at which the ladies took offence, and one of them said aloud, "A perfect savage!" "True," said a wag inside, "he belongs to the Pawnee tribe."

FROM TENNESSEE.

Memphis, Feb. 4.—Refugees from Crittenden county, Arkansas, report that the militia hung a planter, and are committing all kinds of vandalism.

A planter was killed and robbed six miles from Little Rock.

Speaker Richards has vacated the chair pending the investigation charging him with corruption in connection with the missing school fund.

ARKANSAS.

Another Horrible Outrage in Mississippi County.

A Harmless and Sick Cripple Murdered Without Cause.

Frightful Atrocity.

From the Memphis Appeal, Jan. 31.

By arrivals from the neighborhood of Osceola, yesterday, we learn the sickening details of another atrocity perpetrated by fiends in human form, who are "making the murder as they make the law," in God-forsaken Arkansas.
On Carson's Lake, some eight miles from Osceola, lived a quiet, peaceable man, named Alex. Baugh. During the war, Baugh, being a cripple, took no part on either side, but remained at home and cultivated his little farm. A neighbor of his, whose son had entered the Confederate army, dying during the progress of the hostilities, he took the orphan children to his family, and cared for them like his own. When the war closed, the young soldier returned home and went to work on Baugh's farm, where he remained until the militia were sent down to Crittenden and Mississippi counties, when, fearing a repetition of the atrocities committed by them at Marion and elsewhere in his neighborhood, he took his sister, a young lady about grown, and brought her over into Tennessee, leaving her with an aunt near or in this city.

A few days ago he determined to go back and bring away his little brother or sister, a mere child. He succeeded in making the trip, returning in safety to this side; but, unfortunately and fatally, as it turned out for his kind protector, Mr. Baugh, he was seen and recognized while at the house by a negro who had some malice against him or Baugh, and this demon reported Baugh to the militia at Osceola as harboring refugees.

On Wednesday evening a party, consisting of sixteen white and four negro militia, were sent out by Monk, who is commanding at Osceola, to Baugh's place, with orders, it is said to kill him. On arriving at the house they found him in bed, and after gutting the house of everything they coveted or wished to destroy, they forced the poor sick cripple to crawl out of bed. After ironing him, they commenced asking him where was the young man who had run away from them? In vain he protested he did not know; they swore that unless he disclosed the hiding place they would kill him. One negro brute asked him, "Damn you, don't you think you ought to be killed?" Baugh answered that he did not know of any reason why he should. "We do!" was the answer, and with that they dragged him about a hundred yards and shot him to death—this in the presence of his horror-struck and agonized wife.

HONESTY is the best Policy.

I have many old debts due me. Some may not be able to pay, but some others can pay. An honest man will pay if he can, no matter what the losses may be, or whether there is any law or not, on the subject. I call on all them who owe me old debts, and who can possibly do so, to make payment. I have not been hard with you, and do not wish to be so, but I need my money. Then do your duty in the matter. A good name is better than gold.

A Lecture on the Nature, Treatment and Radical Cure of Syphilis, or Venereal Disease, and its Impediments to Marriage, generally Nervousness, Consumption, Epilepsy, and other Mental and Physical Incurable Diseases, resulting from Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., Author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world-renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the fearful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicine and without dangerous surgical operations, blisters, instruments, flags, or cordials, pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically. THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.

Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain sealed envelope, on the receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the publishers.

Repudiation.
The question of repudiation of the war debt of the United States threatens some day to be a vital issue in American politics.

Various plans for the reduction of that debt, for partial repudiation, have been suggested in the past; but to this time men with political aspirations have shrunk from the step beyond proposition to tax the interest on the bonds, to reduce the rate of interest, to pay the principal in greenbacks, and similar half way measures.

Yet that such an advance step might be safely taken, is shown, for instance, in the enormous circulation attained last fall by Brick Pomeroy's Democrat, which had but little to commend it to public favor beyond its bold advocacy of open repudiation.

But pending a federal election, it was natural that the leaders of both parties should avoid a new issue, the strength of which was involved in doubt, and against which so much spread-eagle declamation could be brought to bear.

There will be no general election for some time now, and the public mind is getting in a mood suitable for the calm consideration of any question affecting the interests of the people; and now men of character and ability, who have no personal aspirations to be affected, are beginning to think about repudiation as something practical, and to advocate it.

We have before us, a pamphlet printed recently by Isaac Butts, Esq., of New York, in which the propriety, right and duty of a full and absolute repudiation of the war debt, is urged at great length and with great ability, not as a party measure, not in the interest of any party, but for the good of the whole country. We have not yet had leisure to read carefully this essay, and therefore can express no opinion of the argument, which has made an impression in quarters where it was least expected.

The New York World, the great democratic organ of the bond-holders, reprints ten or twelve columns, of Mr. Butts' argument, and, without attempting to answer it, sells the public credit, that, however fallacious the reasoning may be, its effect upon the public mind, though it may not be great now while everything is prosperous, would infallibly in a season of general distress lead to the election of a repudiating Congress, and, therefore, advises them as speedily as possible to make some arrangement with the government by which they will make sure of a portion of their claims while lessening the public burdens so as to guard against the danger of repudiation.

At the same time, the World tells the bond-holders, that whatever their legal rights, the payment of the bonds in gold at their gold value when bought would be equity.

Sooner or later, the public debt of the United States will be repudiated.—With economy in the public administration and integrity in the collection of taxes, it might be paid in fifteen years without increasing the present burdens of the people. But there is no probability of Congress becoming less recklessly extravagant, or the revenue department less shamelessly corrupt. And the people will not much longer submit to wholesale robbery under the forms of law for the enrichment of political adventurers and corrupt officials.

The question of repudiation will, ere long, be a practical one; and when it becomes such, the bond-holders, who have controlled Congress, and who could have defeated the reconstruction acts and restored to the Union as co-equal States the white commonwealths of the South, will have the satisfaction of knowing that in seeking to punish the whites of this section for participation in a war which gave them their untaxed wealth, they have made 700,000 negro voters for repudiation.

A New Thing Under the Sun.

[From the New York Tribune, 15th.]

A gentleman called at our office the other day and showed us something which certainly appears to contradict that sweeping declaration of the wise man of old, which denies any novelty upon earth. It was a little piece of mechanism, which has already been advertised in our columns as the "Fowler Adding Machine." This little instrument, small enough to be carried in the coat pocket with no inconvenience than a common note book, and simple in its construction as a pair of scissors, will put together sum of figures, in qualities ranging from the limits of simple addition to the dimensions of the national debt, more rapidly than an average writer could set them down, and will announce the sum total of the whole, whether it be units or millions, before an ordinary accountant will have got fairly started on his first column.—

Its accuracy is beyond the possibility of a doubt. The rapidity of its action is certainly marvelous, and the simplicity of the principle on which it acts is so obvious that the first thought that strikes the beholder on witnessing its operation, is, "What a set of blockheads we all must be to have gone on muddling our poor brains over stacks of figures for so many generations and never thought of this most plain and easy way of helping ourselves." To bookkeepers, accountants, lumber dealers, and business men generally, it must prove of immense value, as an economizer of time and labor, and with a lively sympathy for the thousands who are now toiling, as we have so often done, over wearisome lines and rows of obdurate figures, we trust they may soon find an "ever present help in time of trouble." The inventor is now selling State rights to manufacture and sell his machine, and for further information see our advertising columns.

A gentleman who has been present at the performance of many earthquakes, including the one which recently came off in San Francisco, gives a singular and interesting account of the effect of an earthquake on men, women, children and domestic fowls and animals. He says that, as a rule, men run into the streets laughing, while women and children sink down and cry piteously and hysterically. Horses generally snort with terror and dash madly away. Cattle bellow and run wildly about.—

Sheep huddle close together and stand still. Dogs bark vociferously and run about without any apparent object.—

And according to the testimony of a lady who was standing in her yard feeding her poultry when the shock of the San Francisco earthquake was first felt the hen and chickens all ran away to the henhouse as though a shower had occurred, while her only turkey ran toward and lying flat down at her feet looked up into her face as if imploring protection.

THE SWEDENBORGIAN DOCTRINE.—According to Swedenborg, there are three heavens, consisting of three orders of angels: the first distinguished for love, the second for wisdom, and the last for obedience. All angels have lived on earth; none were created such. They are men and women in every respect; they marry, and live in societies, in cities and countries just as in the world but in happiness and glory ineffable. All in whom love to God and man is the ruling principle go to heaven at death. Between heaven and hell a perfect equilibrium is maintained. As there are three heavens, there are three hells, and every angelic society has an infernal antagonist. Hell, as a whole is called the devil and satan; there is no individual bearing that name.

How to Retain Youth.

It is a matter of no little concern, says an Exchange among men—and women, too—to preserve the bloom and freshness of their youth. Cosmetics, plumpers, and the whole offspring of artifice and deception are resorted to, in the effort to stay the furrowing ploughshare of time. External appliances cannot reach or rejuvenate the decaying spirits of the man or woman who willfully and maliciously perpetrated a glaring wrong on a fellow creature. Something must be done quicken the vitality of the "inner man" if you would preserve the ruddy glow of health and rosy form of youth. An easy conscience is the all potent remedy for that elasticity of spirit which gives color and beauty to the human face, and activity and energy to the physical body. Hear an old man sing:

They tell me I am handsome yet,

And all the ladies say

"Do look at him! the dear old man

Grows younger every day."

And when each friend asks, At your age

How came you free from ill?"

I always answer, "In my youth

I paid my printer's bills."

Little Things in Farming.

The whole success of a farmer hinges upon timely attention to little things. This mainly makes the difference between thrift and poverty. The philosophy of success is expressed in the old adage: "For want of a nail a shoe was lost; for want of a shoe a horse was lost; for want of a horse a man was lost." It is a little thing to keep accounts of the pecuniary transactions on the farm. A half hour Saturday evening would enable farmers to know just how they stand with the world. Yet we suspect half the men who cultivate the soil never make an entry on a book; and for want of this accounts run up fearfully at the store, and many articles of luxury are purchased, for which they are unable to pay at the close of the year. Debts accumulate, the farm is mortgaged, and finally lost for want of a little paper and ink. It is a little thing to put up a tool in its place, or place of shelter for any implement

The Norfolk (Va.) Journal, a paper that worked hard to defeat the election of Gen. Grant, referring to the forthcoming Administration, says:

"Gen. Grant has a great future before him—and he knows it. His administration will come upon the stage as the latest echoes of the great strife are dying away, and his object will be to reunite us again, so that it may be said of him that his administration had healed the wounds of the country and left it a Union in feeling as well as in name. All the energies of Gen. Grant will be directed to this end, and both he and his friends will eagerly seize upon every means by which fraternal relations may be secured, and prosperity restored to all parts of the country."

GRANT AND SEYMOUR BOTH ELECTED—A GOOD OMEN.—At the Railroad meeting in this place, Monday evening last, Capt. D. P. Forney was called to the Chair and E. L. Woodward, Jr., Sec'y. By request, the meeting was addressed, explanatory of its object, by Chancellor Foster, Judge M. J. Turnley, and motion of G. I. Murrell, Esq., a committee of visitation and correspondence was appointed, consisting of Maj. B. C. Wyly, Isaac Seymour and J. F. Grant—so the reader will see that in this instance both Grant and Seymour were successful.—May this prove a good omen, both politically and for the railroad interest of Jacksonville.

Prosperity of Jacksonville.

We have several times of late alluded to the increase and prosperity of trade in Jacksonville; and can now in corroboration of our former statement, say that, in addition to the immense amount of Goods and Groceries sold by our excellent and reliable merchants, sixty-two bales of cotton were bought and shipped from this point in a single day, a short time since, and that on another day fifty-three bales were purchased by a single buyer, Mr. Isaac Frank. It is now calculated that from twelve to fifteen hundred bales will be bought at this point the present season. Trade in every thing is lively, and rents and real estate are also advancing.

Mrs. Rowland's News Agency has just received a fine supply of Magazines, Newspapers, Novels, and Fancy Stationery, with many useful, beautiful and ornamental articles.—Call soon and supply yourselves with the latest and best.

ENCOURAGE HOME MANUFACTURES.—We invite special attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Privett & Dean, who have procured a full stock of tools, implements and material for the manufacture of Tin, Sheet Iron and Copper ware of every description. They have employed, as their chief workman, Mr. W. W. Nisbet, who has been long and favorably known in our community, as one of the best mechanics in this line in the whole South, and who has a well-merited reputation for neat, beautiful and substantial work.

They will also keep constantly on hand and for sale Cooking Stoves, Extra vessels, Coal Grates &c., which they will sell at Manufacturers' prices, giving purchasers all the advantages of saving cost of transportation and risk of breakage for which railroads are not responsible.

We heartily commend this excellent, reliable and enterprising firm to the confidence and patronage of an appreciative and liberal public.

GADSDEN TIMES.—This paper has been recently considerably enlarged and otherwise improved. It now contains twenty-eight columns; and is without one of the neatest and most interesting papers in the interior of the State.—The Times has done much for the prosperity of Gadsden, and surrounding country, and well deserves the liberal patronage of the people. Has it ever occurred to them that the establishment of this paper has probably increased the value of real estate in Gadsden alone, more than fifty times the value of the materials upon which it is printed; and more than one hundred times all that the editor and proprietor has made in his arduous struggles for the establishment of the county seat, against abolishing the county & for its reestablishment?

"THE RICHMOND BEACON."—We have received the first two numbers of this paper, recently started by W. P. Mangham, at Rayville, La. Mr. Mangham, some years ago, published a paper at Asheville, Ala., and also for a short time at Oxford in this county. He is a practical printer, with considerable experience as an editor, and the Beacon bids fair to be a neat and interesting paper. It is democratic in politics.

Factory Thread given in exchange for loss Cotton by
J. M. CARROLL & CO

Col. P. Rowan, as will be seen by reference to his advertisement, has just received a full and complete supply of new Spring Goods, purchased in New York and Baltimore, before the late rise, which enables him to sell without advance on former prices.

Call upon him, and get your supplies upon good terms while you can.

ONE HUNDRED AND SIX YEARS OLD.—James Allen Pearson passed through this place last week, on his way from Mississippi, to the residence of his grand-son, Mr. Cunningham, who lives on the road from Asheville to Gadsden. Mr. Pearson was born in South Carolina, in August, 1763, and is consequently in the 106th year of his age. He was accompanied by a daughter, the youngest of sixteen children, who is now about fifty years of age. They stopped several days at Mr. Wynn's Hotel to rest. Notwithstanding Mr. Pearson's great age, his skin has a healthy appearance, but his hearing and sight are greatly impaired.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

I have received a Circular from the State Auditor, whose decision upon the construction of the Revenue Law is final, from which the following extracts are taken, for the information of all persons concerned:

"Dealers in spirituous, vinous, or malt liquors, in quantities of one quart or less than one quart, are deemed Retail Dealers, while those selling in quantities over one quart are deemed Wholesale Dealers."

"License for Retail Dealers, in an incorporated town of less than one thousand inhabitants, will be the same as charged for any town not incorporated, or for a village."

JOHN A. DEARMAN,
County Judge.

The New Negro Suffrage Amendment

The New York Tribune says that this amendment may be triumphantly carried through Congress, but there are good grounds for believing that it may be defeated in at least ten of the States; and ten refusals to ratify will suffice to kill it. Mr. Boutwell, one of the foremost advocates of negro suffrage, preferred the passage of a simple act of Congress forbidding the exclusion of negroes, assigning as his reason for this preference, the improbability that a constitutional amendment would be ratified by the requisite number of States.—There are some Republican States, like Ohio, which have recently voted down negro suffrage, and their Legislatures would hesitate to ratify this amendment at the risk of their party losing the States in the next elections. All the Democratic Legislatures will reject it, of course. Mr. Boutwell estimates that about nine-tenths of the Republican party desire negro suffrage, and that the other one-tenth is opposed to it; but we incline to think that a much larger proportion of that party would disapprove, if they could act on the question itself, without any bias. Multitudes of Republicans give it a sort of support, less from a feeling of right than a constrained sense of consistency.—Mont. Mail.

THE MATERIAL PROGRESS OF THE SOUTH.—CHERRING SIGNS.—Perhaps the best evidence of the sure rapid material progress of the South may be found in the fact that the price of the bonds of the different Southern States is steadily rising in Wall street. The directors of the New York savings banks, who are proverbially conservative, cautious and sagacious, have lately bought largely of these State bonds. The Southern people themselves are also adding considerably to their investments in these bonds. Other cheering signs of the energy with which the recuperative powers of the South are awakening may be found in great cotton crop estimated at two hundred million dollars; in the plentiful rice and sugar crops; in the abundant production of everything consumed by the Southern people at home; in the report that in many parts of the South labor has been even cheaper than it used to be in the days of slavery; and, lastly, in many indications that the political pacification which must infallibly follow the inauguration of President Grant will open at the South an era of good feeling and unprecedented prosperity.

New York Herald.

"Lost Causes."—When Kossuth was beaten by Austria in his war for Hungarian liberty, a more complete "lost cause" never seemed so apparent. Yet time rolled round, and to Hungary was conceded all the rights for which she fought twenty years before. To this example may be added that Italy, and both raise the question why should the South despair or her sons desert her?

Offensive Warnings to Gen. Grant.

It occurs to us the true way for Senators to act concerning the tenure-of-office-law would be to vote one way or another upon the proposition of the House to repeal it. The matter would then be done with, and the President elect and the country would know just how things stand in the premises. Instead, however, of such decisive action, Senators think to intimidate Gen. Grant by this or that proposition, slightly modifying the obnoxious act in question. It was fully understood, when the usurping and mischievous measure was passed, that it was only intended to hamper President Johnson, and that the new Executive would have the chains stricken from his limbs. At the date of its adoption we warned representatives in Congress of the peril of putting extraordinary powers in the hands of Senators, lest they should retain them, manage all understandings. The late proposition of Senator Wilson, as well as that of Senator Edmunds, indicate no more and no less than indisposition to give General Grant full executive power.—[Nat. Intel.]

John Tyler.

From the Wilcox Vindicator.

It is refreshing in these sad and dreary times to remember the really great and good men that once rendered this nation the glory and the pride of every true lover of liberty. The short extract clipped from a paper in 1862, condenses in brief space the glorious career of one, whom Virginia delighted to honor whilst living, and now mourns when dead. In our youth, we loved and honored him, now in Manhood we revere his great name, and fondly cherish his memory.

A REMARKABLE HISTORY.—John Tyler was elected to the United States Congress from the Richmond District in November 1816—just forty-five years ago. Since that time he has been Governor of Virginia, Senator in the Federal Congress, member of the celebrated Virginia Convention of 1823-30, member of the House of Delegates of Virginia, Vice President of the United States, President of the Sovereign Convention of Virginia of 1861 member of the National Peace Congress of 1861, and President of the Confederate Congress, and now he is elected to the first Congress of the Confederate States by votes of the children and grandchildren of the constituents of his early career. John Tyler, died Jan. 15th, 1863.

The New York Tribune in a New Role.

The New York Tribune for some purpose of its own is now making strenuous efforts to induce Northern people to settle in the South. Whatever its reasons may be for its new course, we are glad that it has at last adopted it.

The Mobile Tribune says that Mr. Greeley and his associates have a Herculean task before them to undo the evil they have wrought on our section during the four years that have elapsed since the conclusion of active hostilities, to say nothing of what they did before the war. For the sake of partisan supremacy they have spared no efforts to make the South appear as dark and bloody ground, where no Northern man could live and enjoy protection to life and property; that even while our country was under the full control of the Radical party upheld by the Federal bayonet!

Now, however, the New York Tribune is devoting its columns to directions to Northern emigrants coming South, to descriptions of our best lands; and to the work of annulling the mischief wrought by its venomous and malicious falsehood. What does it mean? Simply this, that the Radical party at the North, having accomplished all that they can expect by the use of the negro vote; having little confidence in his future usefulness in that regard; are moving to build up a white Radical party in our midst, by planting colonies among us. It is the old plan adopted by the Romans thousands of years ago.—Mont. Mail

Maine follows Massachusetts in the effort to decrease the rising generation. Mr. Warren Johnson, State Superintendent of Common Schools in Maine, reports to the Legislature that there is a decrease of 19,633 scholars between the ages of four and twenty-one years from the census of 1858. The decrease in the past year has been 3,182; the decrease in 1864 was 4,141; and the total decrease from the maximum of 1850 is nearly 20,000. Mr. Johnson very naturally considers this decrease alarming; but, as he cannot satisfactorily account for it, he consoles himself with a series of conundrums, such as: "Have we ceased to be a producing people?" "Are the vital forces expended in brain labor?" (which is a modest query for Maine) "and lost to physical reproduction?" and, "are the modern fashionable criminalities of infanticide and foeticide creeping into our State community?" Dr. Storor and others in Massachusetts boldly put the last conundrum first, and as boldly answer it by declaring that foeticide is the common crime which limits the increase of children in that State almost wholly to the foreign population. It is not "brain labor" in Massachusetts which prevents the succession of Smiths and Summers, Joneses and Jacksons, but a general repugnance to labor of another sort. Why don't these people send out their statistics with the politics and "morals" and what not which they have been preaching to the whole country for the past ten years?—New York World.

HONESTY is the best Policy.

I have many old debts due me. Some may not be able to pay, but some others can pay. An honest man will pay if he can, no matter what the laws may be, or whether there is any law or not, on the subject. I call on all then, who owe me old debts, and who can possibly do so, to make payment. I have not been hard with you, and do not wish to be so, but I need my money. Then do your duty in the matter. A good name is better than gold.

Respectfully,
E. L. WOODWARD.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Feb. 7.—Senator McCreary and others had an interview with Evans regarding the release of Lieut. Braine of the Confederate Navy. Evans doubted whether Braine's case comes within the President's amnesty, but listened favorably to the appeals for mercy.

The recent utterances and votes of Speaker Colfax indicate a liberal feeling towards the southern people, both regarding political and property rights.

SENATE.

The Railroad Committee asked to be discharged from further consideration of various propositions for aid.

The Omnibus bill will be reported on Saturday, covering all notorious schemes now presented.

HOUSE.

The House is considering the change in the election of Congressmen.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The House was under regular call. The following bills were introduced; regulating the fur trade; encouraging the building of steam ships; relating to the rights of loyalists of Alabama; authorizing the President to appoint a Commissioner to revise the tariff; declaring the reciprocity treaties against the policy at this time; granting the right of way to the Memphis, Opaso and Pacific railroad; granting lands to the New Orleans and Selma railroad and Immigration Association; and a bill regarding naturalization. Eldridge asked for a select committee to investigate the outrages by the Arkansas militia. Port objections to the copper tariff bill as amended by the Senate. Passed by 112 to 56, and goes to the President. A petition asking protection for the cotton trade from Virginia, was modified by Gen. Schofield. The House went to committee and took a recess.

SENATE.—After the proceedings reported at noon, the Constitutional amendment was received and discussed all day and was only suspended to allow the vote on Edwards' resolution regarding the Florida electoral vote, 34 1/2. This resolution provides that in declaring its vote two states shall be announced, the one counting, the other omitting the Florida vote.

FROM GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Feb. 8.—SENATE.—A resolution pledging the members of both branches of the general assembly to abide by the decision of the Supreme Court regarding the eligibility of negroes to hold office was defeated, yeas 13, nays 19.

A second resolution requiring members of the general assembly, officers and clerks to swear under the oath whether they held office previous to the war under the United States, or during the war under the Confederate Government, or served in the army, or gave donations to the Confederacy was defeated, yeas 12, nays 21.

A motion to occur with the House resolution referring to the eligibility of negroes to hold office was defeated yeas 13, nays 21.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Washington Feb. 10. Gen. Longstreet and Gen. Frank Blair are here. Gen. Grant has returned. A company of United States Infantry from New York passed here for Wilmington, N. C., at 10 o'clock. The Senators arrived in the morning. Wade took the Chair. Colfax, being seated near him, Senator Conkling, Representatives Wilson, of Iowa, and Pray, netting tellers. Pray read the democratic votes; Conkling and Wilson alternated reading the Republican. All went smoothly until Louisiana was reached when Mullins, of Tennessee objected declaring that no valid election was held. The joint session separated; the House voted 126 to 63, to count the votes of Louisiana. The Senate after a severe struggle to draw extraneous matters in voted to count Louisiana.

Both Houses again met and proceeded with the count until Georgia was reached, when Butler objected because the Georgia college had not voted on the proper day and the other reasons. Much confusion ensued, which Wade ended by ordering the Senate to its own chamber. The House then voted 150 to 41, for Georgia not to be counted.

The Senate after a most perplexing and laughable struggle voted that in the face of the current resolution concerning Georgia the objection in the joint session was out of order. The House again met in joint session and in an absolute conflict. Wade ordered the Georgia vote to be read, as directed by the concurrent resolution. Butler objected, but Wade would hear no objection. Butler's appeal from Wade's decision.

Wade would allow an appeal and ordered the count to proceed. Butler's appeal was then heard. Butler's appeal was then heard. Butler's appeal was then heard.

sult, but his voice was drowned by cries of order. The noise became deafening when Speaker Colfax sprang to his desk proclaiming that the Vice Presidency must be decided in joint session, and ordered the sergeant-at-arms to arrest disorderly persons.

Colfax was ordering and appealing probably for two minutes during which time the sergeant-at-arms had distributed his men well through the house before partial order was restored, when the reading of the result and the proclamation followed and both Houses separated.

In the House Butler introduced a resolution that Wade's and the Senate's action was a gross invasion of the rights of the House, which resolution was pending when the House adjourned.

Mr. Editor.

I have always told my readers that Jacksonville was a spon and spile a horn sum up these days. I knowed she was a sitty fore I dyed, for she is jst what she is, and she cud not be enny whar else if she wanted to, an fur that resun she is bound to rise. Now I nos ni proficy is tru, fur I hern yu is doin things up rite. Uncle Joe, Guile cums over to mi hons yestidy, an he se sam, yu aut to bin in town mtny, that was those taranashunt mtny, that yu trer seod; every body was thar, an the town was in a blase up glorio. This had a metin bout a ralerode from Jasenvil to Albany, an at thee big men in town made speches, an thee metin last resolved to telgraf to ginral Grant, an Semur to no if the wud help them make the rode, an Grant an Semur wret bat that the wud cum an put thee rode thir sho. So the metin made ginral Grant an Semur a enmity to go to Albany an hav evvery thing elered out uv the way, an thea thea can hav the rode made in two weeks.

Well ses I, Uncle Joe, made it was Mr. Grant in town, an Mr Semur what lives bout thar. No ses Uncle Joe, darn mi picturs if it warnt Ginral Grant, and that other man what wanted to be president, for I was thar an hern all the speches, an hern the names of the cummity, an what the telegraf to Ginral Grant, an Ginral Grant is guine to be in Jasenvil shure, to make that rode to Albany.

Well Mr. Editor, when Uncle Joe sed that, I jst jumped up bout six feet an cum down on mi storn, and roled over an over an hollered glorio, glorio, hally luger, hally luger, an I kept on I I scured the old wummin out dore an she cum ruin in, an she ses Sammy what on the arth is the matter with yu is you got religion, or the colic, or is you got crazy. No Suky ses I, taint nether, an I always sed that Jasenvil was the wupire of the South, I hav toll mi nebers so, an thea I arled an me an sed I was a dreecan, but now thern the Lord, Jasenvil is the obstoprile uv Albany, an I tolled Suky what Uncle Joe sed, an I larled toll the eyes run outen mi tears, an mi belly ached so, I cud hardly hoke in. Suky arled out the jag of sickar, an the sugar, an we at got tite, at we kept it up till lede time.

Now Mr. Editor yu knows I has a ways stuck up fer yu paper an hus sed that it is the best dimerent paper in Albany, an I woot yu do not a favor. When Ginral Grant cums down to Jasenvil, I wants yu to git him to give me an Suky a free ticket on the Jasenvil an Albany ralerode to Washinton Sitty, to sea him made president as thea ses the rode will be made for the nogorration, I is as yu knows a demont, an voted for Semur, kuse he comissioned sixteen thousand efferors to phile the South, an after thea whiped us he bell out his hand an sed howdy do brothers I is your friend, but if Ginral Grant makes the rode from Jasenvil to Albany I will sport his ministration. SAM LONGKATE.

P. S I want yu to let me no in yu paper, when yu toun fokes is guine to have a nother metin. I hern that yu is guine to have too or three hundred factes to spin cotton yares, but I tell yu Mr. Editor, thar chat no use uv thar, fur if yu want yares first go over to Gadsden an thea folows will spin more in one day than all yu factories did in a year. I saw a feller from Gadsden tother day, an if yu wud believe his gab, yu wud think that thar wurnt land enuf in Albany to hoke what Gadsden is guine to be. Why Gadsden sed nothin to Jasenvil; it is jst on a piece of a river that don't begin uv whar, an go no whar. When a feller starts to travil he dont want to get on a boat at Rome an a fast thing he knows he runs rite chock up giost a shole as he will when he gets to Gadsden.

London claims to be as large as New York, Philadelphia (Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Boston, Brooklyn, Baltimore, New Orleans, Buffalo and Louisville combined.

Col. V. K. Stevenson has recently disposed of his tract of land lying in Crow Creek Valley, near Chattanooga, which he purchased a few years since for $5,000, for the round sum of 110,000 in cash.

Rev. Mr. Trask's antidote for tobacco is: "Resolution, gentian and the grace of God." The gentian root, coarsely ground, is to be chewed instead of tobacco, until the appetite for the latter dies out; and can be purchased at the apothecary's.

MARRIED.—On the 26th ultimo, at the residence of the Bride's mother, by the Rev. R. G. Bogan, Mr. D. McEachern to Miss M. Brock.

The God of love, by certain arts, Has united two whole hearts.

For the Republican. DEDICATED TO THE MEMORY OF EUGENE CLARK.

The pains of death are past, Labor and sorrow cease; And life's bitter warfare closed at last, His soul is found in peace; Saint of Christ well done, Praise be to thy employ; And while eternal ages run, Rest in thy Savior's joy.

Rest thee in peace, thou lovely one! Sweet be thy sleep! Gentle the rays of dewdrops mild Which o'er thy grave so gently creep; To call the back, O not to earth, To dwell mid scenes so dark; To brighter worlds of spirits birth Hast steer'd thy guarded barque.

Calm on the bosom of thy God! Freed spirit rest thee now, Even while with us thy footsteps tread, His soul was on thy brow; Dost to thy narrow house beneath, Sent to its place on high! They that have seen thy look in death, And initiate thy body lie, No more may fear to die.

The angel that did kiss thee, Just taken thee above To him who gave my friend, And took her in his love; To save her from a world of care, Temptation, grief and pain, His will be done, in heaven I shall meet my friend again. E. H.

VALUABLE Town Lot For Sale.

On the west side of the public square, 1st door north of the Printing Office, for terms apply at this office. Feb. 6, '69.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1868, it is provided as follows to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in this County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county;" and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or changed by me.

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, being as well acquainted with the legal elements, while, therefore, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound, yet the disinfecting and Therapeutics of the agents employed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its disinfector, as a chemist, authorizing me to regard its merits as of a high order;—the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many eminent Judges, who have tested its properties. Believe me, dear Sir, Yours Respectfully, A. WOODS, Judge of Probate.

DARBY'S Prophylactic Fluid.

Letter from Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Ga. CHAMFORTVILLE, GA. Sept. 20th. 1868. Darby's Prophylactic Fluid is an article of great value, but great value is not as well as its medicinal uses are numerous, while its specialties are most wonderful. I have not been without it for ten years; and no head of a family who can afford to have it should be without it. ALEX. H. STEPHENS.

The Wonderful Family Medicine.

Letter from the Surgeon General of the late Confederate States. Richmond, Va., Jan'y 14, 1869. Genl. Darby & Co. No. 106 William St. N. Y. Gentlemen: I have received your letter of the 15th of December, 1866, calling my attention to your (Darby's Prophylactic) Fluid. I must cheerfully state the Fluid was furnished to, and extensively used by the Surgeon in charge of General Hospitals in the Confederate Service with great benefit to the patients—and the surgeons making a favorable report—a great deal of it was used in the hospitals. Very Respectfully Yours, SAMT. PIERSON MOORE, M. D.

THE ASTONISHING DISINFECTANT!

EMERY COLLEGE, OXFORD, GA. December 28th, 1868.

Prof. Darby. Dear Sir:—Having not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Medical Profession, I am only superficially acquainted with the claims of your Prophylactic Fluid, but am well acquainted with its chemical elements. While, therefore, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound, yet the disinfecting and Therapeutics of the agents employed in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its disinfector, as a chemist, authorizing me to regard its merits as of a high order;—the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many eminent Judges, who have tested its properties. Believe me, dear Sir, Yours Respectfully, A. WOODS, Judge of Probate.

BURNS, WOUNDS, SLINGS, &c. ALABAMA INSANE HOSPITAL, TUSCALOOSA, Dec. 27, 1868.

Messrs John Darby & Co. 160 William St. N. Y. Gentlemen:—I received your Circular of the 10th inst., asking an expression of opinion from me as to the merits of your Prophylactic Fluid. The preparation has been generally used by the profession and public at large, and so universally esteemed, that it seems to me to need no further recommendation.

As a Disinfectant, and remedial agent too, when indicated, it is not excelled by any similar preparation. We use it in our hospital, and have found it to be a most valuable preparation, and could not do without them. I consider yours the best and most elegant preparation of the kind manufactured.

Respectfully, R. BRYCE, M. D., Superintendent of the Alabama Insane Hospital.

A Perfect Pain Killer. WESTERN FEMALE COLLEGE, STANTON, VA; Jan. 9, 1869.

Prof Darby.—When I was President of the L. G. College of Georgia, I used your Prophylactic Fluid in the College with decided success, both as a disinfectant and as a remedy for sores and burnes, etc. It was efficacious and proved to be what is represented. Every family and public institution ought to have it. I wish you great success in the sale of it.

WM. A. HARRIS, D. D. Pres. W. F. College, Stanton, Va.

Never was there a family medicine so highly recommended as this. Try it and you will never regret it.

Every County merchant shipping New York this Spring put this article of his list. But don't wait—Order it once.

And we might fill this entire paper with recommendations from the very best men in the country.

There is no question that this is a most wonderful and useful article as a disinfectant, and for wounds, sores burnes, poisons, colic, as a tooth-wash, general purifier, etc., etc. Every Druggist or Country Merchant has it for sale.

Orders filled by the proprietors, JOHN DARBY & CO. 160 William Street, New York.

POETRY.

3531: GIVER, LOVE AND GOD!
That heart is wise that flees to rest
Securely on this mighty truth:
Trust God!—what is it always best!
So seeks a stricken bird the nest—
So childhood, 'mid the woes of youth,
Sleeps lightly on the mother's breast.

This faith translates the ills of time
To the sublimest tongue; and things
That seem like dust and earth and gloom,
Transfigured in its light sublime,
Grow beautiful, and bathe their wings
In the radiance of a higher clime.

Nay, more than this; the Patriarch,
Too old to stand up with his rod,
Summed human life. O, hear and mark
Three waves that urged his precious barque
Thro' all the tempests, home to God,
Guiding it like another ark;

"At Luz, Almighty God appeared,
And blessed me—under Ephraim's sod
Rachel lies sleeping—all is heard."
Only three grand emotions stirred
The grand old man—Grief, Love, and God—
The rest of life had disappeared!

So we shall find, ere life shall close,
"We tread the path the Patriarch trod!"
Forgot the path of our foes—
Forgotten—all our little woes—
Remembered only, Grief, Love, God!
Three grand words written in heart-throes!
—N. C. K. of Mo. in Scott's Monthly.

SOMEBODY LOVES ME.

BY MRS. M. O. JOHNSON.

Two or three years ago, the Superintendent of the Little Wanderer's Home, in Boston, received, one morning, a request from the Judge that he would come up to the Court House—He complied directly, and found there a group of seven little girls, ragged, dirty and forlorn, beyond what even he was accustomed to see. The Judge pointing to them (utterly homeless and friendless), said: "Mr. T—can you take any of these?"

"Certainly, I can take them all," was the prompt reply.
"All what in the world can you do with them?"

"I'll make women of them."
The Judge singled out one, even worse in appearance than the rest, and asked again—"what can you do with that one?"

"I'll make a woman of her," Mr. T—repeated, firmly and hopefully. They were washed and dressed, and provided with a good supper and beds. The next morning, they went into the school-room with the rest of the children. Mary was the name of the little girl whose chance for better things the Judge thought small. During the forenoon, the teacher said to Mr. T—, in reference to her, "I never saw a child like that; I have tried for an hour to get a smile, and failed."

"Mr. T—said afterwards, himself, that her face was the saddest that he had ever seen—sorrowful beyond expression; yet she was a very little girl, only five or six years old.

After school, he called her into his office and said pleasantly: "Mary, I've lost my little pet. I used to have a little girl here that would wait on me and sit on my knee, and I loved her much. A kind gentleman and lady have adopted her, and I should like for you to take her place, and be my pet now! will you?"

A gleam of light flitted over the poor child's face, as she began to understand him. He gave her ten cents, and told her she might go to a store near by, and get some candy. While she was out, he took two or three newspapers, tore them in pieces and scattered them about the room. When she returned in a few minutes, he said to her: "Mary, will you clean up my office a little for me, pick up these papers, and make it look real nice!"

She went to work with a will. A little more of this sort of management—in fact treating her as a kind father would, wrought the desired result.—She went into the school room after dinner, with so changed a look and bearing, that the teacher was astonished. The child's face was absolutely radiant; and half fearful of some mental wanderings, she went to her and said:

"Mary, what is it? What makes you look so happy?"

"Oh! I've got some one to love me! somebody to love me," the child answered earnestly, as if it were heaven come down to earth.

That was all the secret. For want of love that little one's life had been so cold and desolate that she had lost childhood's beautiful faith and hope.—She could not at first believe in the reality of kindness or joy for her. It was the certainty that some one loved her, and desired her affection, that lighted the child's soul and glorified her face! Mary has since been adopted by wealthy people, and lives in a beautiful home in New England; but more than all its beauty and comfort, running like a golden thread through it all, she still finds the love of her adopted father and mother.

Shall we who have many to love, and to love us, refuse to be comforted, to see any value and use in life, any work for our hands to do, because one of our treasures may be removed from our sight—from our home and care to a better?

And oh! shall we let any of these little ones go hungering for affection—go up even to God's throne, before they find "One to love them?"

Proceedings of the Meeting of Old
Union Men at Montgomery
Address of the Committee.

At an adjourned meeting of the old
Union men, held at the city of Montgomery on the 29th inst., the report of the Committee on Address was received and unanimously adopted. The Committee's report was as follows:

TO THE OLD UNION MEN OF ALABAMA.

Claiming to have been old Union men,
and to have acted with you in the past,
and desiring to remain with you in the future, because of our abiding confidence in your patriotism and political sagacity, we feel that recent political movements make it eminently proper
that we protest against any open or covert attempt to alienate you from the support of the National Democratic party, and that we invite you to join us in repudiating all overtures which entice us from the ranks of our friends and lead us to those who have shown themselves treacherous enemies.

You have been invited by persons who have recently been conspicuous in their advocacy of the principles represented by the Democratic party, to dissolve your organization in this State,
and either to seek political peace and commercial prosperity in that repose
which the Republican party offers to those who are content to be the slaves
of tyrants, or to stand aloof like lagards
in the battle and witness the overthrow of the friends of law and order, without raising a hand or voice in vindication
of the right. To do either would bring not only disgrace upon yourselves but ruin upon your State.

You have seen the Republican party violate in every essential particular the Constitution which was handed down to us from the fathers. You have seen them visit upon your people every indignity and outrage—perpetrating in wanton partnership those very crimes
for which our Revolutionary sires waged war against Great Britain. You have seen them consummate their series of oppressions by thrusting upon your State at the point of the bayonet a constitution which misrepresents the wishes of the people and which was never ratified by even the illegally constituted incorporators.

Since the erection of the State government in despite of your wishes and protests, you have been doomed to see a reckless squandering of the public money, a tyrannical imposition upon you
of officers whom you detest, a terrible increase of taxes upon an already overburdened people, and constant and usual resort to the part of those who have been placed over you, to the use of every means employed by tyrants,
for expropriating money from their subjects,
and for wresting from the hands of the people the power to protect their rights.

When you appealed to the courts, the monstrous Republican party barred the door of justice against you. When you appealed to the Executive, they deprived him of a constitutional prerogative
by which he might have ameliorated
your condition. When you appealed to Congress in the most piteous petition which ever welled up from a manly breast to an earthly throne, your plea
was spurned either with derision or contempt. When you appealed to the ballot, this same party which prates of "God and Justice," bound hundreds of thousands of voters in political chains,
and successfully conspired against the voice of a majority of the legal citizens
of the United States by enfranchising
nearly half a million of ignorant creatures and placing under their rule the fairest portion of the Union.

You have been compelled to witness
these crimes, and in the midst of your sufferings you have seen but one party
contending manfully in your behalf.—
That party is the National Democratic.
It has never yet yielded one iota of the right, but from beginning to the end of this terrible scheme of Radical Reconstruction has kept flying to the breeze a banner upon which every old Union man can gaze with pride and affection. It is the banner of constitutional supremacy, independence of the Judiciary and equality of the States.

You are now asked to turn from the Democratic party and seek new allies.
Where could you find them, even if you could prevail upon yourselves to desert
those who throughout your trial in this war, have never deserted you?—
Not in the Republican party. You could only find allies there by forsaking
every principle you have held sacred,
and consorting with the most ignorant
and most unscrupulous of men. Not in a third party. Such a party would have but a local existence, would be impotent for good, and productive only
of evil.

It would attract no appreciable element from the Republican ranks, and would only divide those who a duty it is to stand united against the common oppressors.

History teaches us that in no free country it is possible for three political parties to exist for any length of time.

Political questions may change, and parties may change with them, but throughout all the mutations of history,
there remain but two sides to such impending questions: a right side and a wrong side. There may be incidental
questions of greater or less importance,
bearing up on the fundamental principle
involved, but such questions are always solved by mutual concession and compromise, as our fathers solved the problem of a Constitutional Federal Union. In the question before us now, that of the rights of the State in the Union, there can be, from the nature of the case, but two sides,—the one occupied by the Republican party, which contends for the supremacy of the Federal Government over the State in certain matters affecting domestic institutions, and the other occupied by the Democratic party, which contends for the free and independent exercise by the State of those rights reserved to her
by the Constitution. This issue is so plain and palpable, and draws the lines
of party demarcation so distinctly that only he who would play the traitor
could fail to distinguish the colors of his camp. Impatient and ambitious men may urge you to lose sight of the fundamental issue before the country by appeals to incidental questions which are not now before us; of which, before the next general election, may be solved by the marble of events. We beg you to refuse to wander away from the plain highway of duty to follow such a deviant path. Whatever differences may exist among the Democratic party of Alabama, involving questions of policy
simply, should be submitted, as is customary in all great political organizations, to their representatives, in Convention, and every member, whatever may be his views, should be entitled to a respectful hearing.

We are confident that it is foreign to the policy of the Democratic party to repress the freest interchange of opinion,
and we are equally confident that no
cautious opposition will be offered to the administration of Gen. Grant. Determined to sustain the Government in the spirit of constitutional liberty, the Democrats of Alabama will honestly approve in the conduct of the Administration whatever they believe to be right, as they will certainly condemn whatever may appear to them to be wrong. It is their sincere hope that the laws will be administered by Gen-Grant and Gov. Smith in such a way as to command the respect and patriotic support of all the people. The Democratic party do not intend to sit in judgment upon our rulers in a spirit of mere partisanship.

We beseech you to heed not the insidious appeals of those who would divide your ranks upon such minor questions of policy in order to make you an easy victim for the common enemy.—
There can be no successful union of such questions of policy until the fight
is won on the great question of principle. There can be no commercial prosperity or individual wealth until the pillars of the State rest upon the solid foundation of intelligence and virtue.

We appeal to you to spare the overtures which are being made to you in the name of peace and quiet. Such peace and quiet is the repose of despotism, and not the tranquility of Right and Law.

Terrible and Bloody Tragedy.

Three Young Men Shoot and Kill
Each Other Instantly, at Mariana, Arkansas. The Proclamation Most Trivial!

Sad Result of Carrying Deadly Weapons!—Arkansas Rapidly Becoming another "Dark and Bloody Ground."

(From the Memphis Avalanche)

One of the most painful and tragic events that ever transpired in Arkansas, occurred on Thursday last, at Mariana, a village in Phillips county, 25 miles northwest of Helena. The actors in this bloody tragedy were all young men of good standing and excellent character, men of the very best stamp, brave, generous, and in the very heyday of youthful manhood, and their sudden and terrible dissolution
has not only shrouded three homes in dismal mourning, but cast a gloom over the whole county.

The particulars of this terrible event,
as far as we have been able to gather
them from parties living near Mariana,
are briefly these: It seems that on Thursday of last week, while Mr. Tom Freeman was driving a wagon and team
in the direction of Mariana, he was accompanied by Mr. Tom Slaughter, of Mississippi, who, together with his cousin,
Mr. Arthur Slaughter, was riding on horseback in the same direction. The remark made by the first Mr. Slaughter was something to the effect that "he was d—d glad they could afford at least one white driver in Arkansas!" Mr.

Freeman, it is alleged, being rather deaf, interpreted this remark as an insult, and bitterly cursed the young man.
They or one of them, remarking that it was all right, said they would see him in Mariana. Upon the arrival of the wagon at Mariana, Tom Slaughter ordered Freeman to dismount, drawing a pistol at the time, which, it is supposed,
accidentally was discharged, wounding Freeman in the right leg. Immediately upon this, Freeman fired and instantly killed Tom Slaughter, the ball passing through his body in the region of the heart. Mr. Arthur Slaughter being present, leveled his pistol and fired upon Freeman, shooting him through the head, not, however, before Freeman had simultaneously fired, mortally wounding
Arthur Slaughter, who died instantly.

This in a few minutes three brave
young fellows were sent to their long account, without warning and from a trifling cause. Mr. Arthur Slaughter's father, Captain H. P. Slaughter, was a prominent citizen of the county, and was a member of the Legislature in 1856-7.

Constitution—A writer in the Atlantic Monthly gives some startling evidence to prove that consumption is caused by the dampness surrounding the abodes of those attacked by the disease. He says that extended and repeated observations in England
and Massachusetts show beyond a doubt that other things being equal, consumption with the moisture of the localities where they live. He thinks that consumption is in its ordinary sense, a hereditary disease, and believes that with proper precautions in building houses in dry places, and in draining wet places where houses are already built, this terrible disease may be reduced to one-third of its victims at once, and may be eventually banished
from among men entirely.

Four persons, in one family, recently died in Oneida county, N. Y., from trichiniasis, and a microscopic examination of the muscles of one of the deceased revealed the presence of myriads of trichinae in an active state. The little worms look like under the microscope, like living, writhing snakes. The salt pork and sausages of which the deceased had eaten were full of trichinae
in the encysted state. This pork was raised and fat-meat, as used, on corn and grain. There was nothing in the conduct or appearance of the animals
when fattening, or the look of the meat to indicate disease. The sausages were made of raw meat, and then smoked until quite black and dry; as is the German custom, and were eaten without cooking.

Railroad Accident.

On Sunday the mail train going
north ran off the track a few miles above Silver Run.

The engine and several freight cars
next to it kept on the track, but two passenger cars, the baggage car and a box car, which was used as Express car,
were thrown into the ditch.

We are sorry to learn that one of the brakesmen, whose name we were unable to learn, was killed on the spot, and
the baggage master was slightly hurt.
Though the trucks of the passenger cars were badly broken up, none of the passengers were injured. The train was only detained about an hour behind its usual time.

The cause of the accident has not, as yet, been discovered, but it is supposed
it originated through the breaking of a coupling.—Savannah Times.

Small-Pox in California.

Letters and exchanges from California continue to bring fearful accounts of the prevalence of small-pox on the Pacific coast. In San Francisco, the pest-houses are full, and funerals are of constant occurrence, and the burials in many cases taking place at night. The Chinese it is stated, have suffered severely, three cases out of five of the patients belonging to this nation terminating fatally.

This unusual mortality arises from the ignorance of the native doctors. Melancholy as the accounts from San Francisco are, the towns in the southern part of California are still great sufferers.—
Malignant small-pox is attacking almost every one, and vaccination does not seem to afford any protection. Hospitals have been hastily organized, but no
beneficial effects from them have as yet been perceived. Whole families are swept away, and in one instance a father
and four children died within forty-eight hours.—San Juan, a town of 1,000 inhabitants, in Monterey county, about 160 miles from San Francisco, has lost 100 out of 400 small-pox patients. In the country, away from the reach of skilful medical advice, two-thirds of the cases, it is asserted, prove fatal.

The State of Affairs in Greece.

The old Monteur, which since its release from official imprisonment, has become the best paper in Paris for news, takes a very gloomy view of future prospects.

One fact is established beyond question—the firmness of Greece holds the whole diplomacy of Europe in check.
The Hellenic government, anxious to conciliate public opinion in Europe,
has charged Mr. Constantine, the Greek ambassador in Paris, with the task of leading King George money, the Greek Cabinet will, no doubt, have recourse to an issue of paper money. Great excitement continues to prevail throughout the Hellenic peninsula. The advices which we receive from Constantinople continue to represent the Sublime
Porte as ready to open the campaign in Greece as soon as it receives the news of the conclusion of the Congress. Great activity reigns at the French Foreign Office, the Austrian Embassy and the Italian Legation. It is generally believed that the Eastern question is not the only one which occupies public opinion.
An Austro-Prussian difficulty is very likely soon to spring up.

STATE OF ALABAMA.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE.

Sir:—Your attention, and the attention of the county officers who are charged with the execution of the Revenue
Laws of this State, is called to the following directions, which will be enforced as decisions of this office in construction of the Revenue Act.—See section 120.

No proceedings will be had against persons subject to pay license, for non-compliance with the law, until the third Monday of March, 1869.—
See section 111. All persons engaged in any business subject to license during the month of January, are liable for the full amount of an annual license.

Any license granted during the year 1868, when the laws then in force were fully complied with, is

SUPERIOR COTTON.—We were shown on Wednesday last, by Mr. T. J. Stephens, of Rome, Ga., a specimen of Brazilian Cotton, raised in Russell County, Ala., which was certainly by far the finest we have ever seen, both for length and fine silkenness of staple. Its superiority was very manifest when compared with the common and Nankin cotton, and comparison, as well as microscopic examination has shown it to be superior even to the best sea island. It will grow well in this latitude, or in fact any where that the common cotton will, and produce more to the acre. It is manufactured with silk extensively in France, and will sell for double the price of ordinary cotton.

Is probably a few bushels of the seed may be deposited with Mr. E. L. Woodward of this place. A specimen of the staple can be seen at this office.

We invite special attention to the advertisement of Smith & Riddle, Grocery, Produce and Hardware Merchants of Oxford, Ala. These experienced, competent, and accommodating Merchants have now on hand, and will keep constantly supplied with a full and complete assortment of the best and most choice articles, and sell at prices to give the most perfect satisfaction to all their patrons. We assure our friends, throughout all the surrounding country, who may wish to purchase for their own consumption, or to sell again, that they will find it difficult to do better than call on these gentlemen. Orders for large or small quantities of Groceries will be promptly filled by them. We hope to see their already extensive and flourishing trade greatly increased this Spring.

Oxford, Calhoun County, Ala.

We passed one day of the present week in this thriving and rapidly growing town, in social and business intercourse with its hospitable, liberal and enterprising inhabitants. We were truly pleased to see the many evidences of thrift and enterprise, on every hand. There are some ten or twelve buildings now in process of erection, among them some very neat residences, some business houses, and some for manufacturing purposes. A brief space of our limited time was spent at the Collegiate Institute, with our friends Messrs. Borden and Dodson, the Associate Principals of the Institute. We were pleased to find it liberally patronized, as it certainly deserves to be under their competent, diligent and superior management, having now 131 pupils.

Among the late improvements of the place, the Messrs McKibbons have erected a steam mill and also iron foundry, both now in operation; but they are still going on with additions and improvements, and will soon have one of the finest Merchant Flouring Mills in the country. These gentlemen are skillful architects and mechanics, and very energetic and enterprising business men, deserving not only the liberal patronage, but the thanks and gratitude of any community. May success and prosperity attend them.

A correspondent of the Macon Telegraph, a short time since visited Hon. A. H. Stephens, and among other things reports his having stated as follows:

"In this connection I would add that it is not correct, as I here see it in the papers to-day stated, that I have accepted the Professorship of History and political Science, lately created and tendered to me in the University of Georgia. The state of my health and existing professional, as well as other engagements, constrain me to decline it, at least for the present."

GENERAL GRANT.
I asked Mr. Stephens what he thought would be the course of General Grant as President, and while he says but little upon public matters, his reply was as follows: "All the country wants is good government. For General Grant personally I entertain the highest esteem. From the time I first met him at City Point, in 1863, I have regarded, and still regard, him as one of the most remarkable men I ever met. He possesses one of the best combinations of elements of character of perhaps any man living. I do not believe he will be easily influenced, much less controlled, by any person. He will act from the dictates of his own judgment, and what he believes to be the line of his duty. I regard him as a man of great generosity and magnanimity, neither selfish nor ambitious; and I believe he meant all that the words import when he said 'Let us have Peace.' General Grant, however, no more than any other man, can have all things as he might desire. The future of the country, therefore, is still enveloped in great uncertainty. All the patriot at the South can do is to bear in patience the present exercise a generous confidence and look hopefully for time's development."

Grant and His Party.

Gen. Grant was nominated by a party and he was elected by a party, but the circumstances under which he was nominated and elected, give him a peculiar right to reject the shackles of party. He was not nominated by the Radical party on account of any conviction or impression that he agreed with that party in all its measures and policies, for the whole country had conclusive evidence that he did not. He was nominated simply because the Radical leaders knew, that, whatever he was for or whatever against, they must either take him as their candidate or encounter inevitable defeat. They took him not as a choice but as the alternative of political ruin. And, even in taking him, they gave out, though falsely, that if they should not take him, the Democracy would. He has a right therefore to consider himself especially free from responsibility or accountability to party domination. He, without the Radical party, would still be Gen. Grant; the Radical party, without Gen. Grant, would be nothing. It has not made him, but he has made it, and he can perhaps unmake it.

Even when Gen. Grant was nominated by the Radical party at Chicago, he was not called on to give, and he did not give, any pledge or promise to conform his opinion and action to its opinion and action. The platform submitted to him for his endorsement was purposely unspecific and vague; it was even equivocal. He gave only a general assent to the leading principles of his party and declared his general sympathy with its views and objects. The party ventured to demand no more. It professed to be satisfied. What General Grant owes to party let him pay. The vast obligation that he owes to the country, let him fulfill.—Louisville Courier.

Grant's Way to Peace.

A Washington correspondent of the Galveston News says that a gentleman lately asked General Grant if he had intended to an ex Colonel in the Confederate army that he would give him an appointment after his accession, and being answered in the affirmative, asked on what principle that was done. To which Gen. Grant replied:

"Sir, the only great principle that I have promised the American people is, that we must have 'Peace,' and when I find a man who fought in this war, on either side, who heartily desires peace, and will support the laws of the country, and is competent, I shall ask no other question about the propriety of his appointment."

Innocent Amusement.

In all small towns and villages there is a want of places of innocent amusement and recreation for the population is not sufficient to sustain them. Hence no theatres to visit during the long winter nights, to relieve the monotony of the sea-on and revivify the spirits. Then is it not commendable to supply this desideratum by combination of the citizens of such towns and give innocent entertainments at a trifling cost, such as Concerts, Christmas Trees and Santa Claus Exhibitions, Valentine Drawings and Seppers, Whist and Dancing parties, &c., provided these different amusements are placed under the immediate control of the church and the profits arising therefrom placed to the credit of the same.—We are aware some objections may be urged to dancing, but we cannot consider them valid, provided said parties are conducted by the church and attended and controlled by the Pastors or Ministers of the same. Certainly no one can object to the exercise and graceful bearing of dancing, the valid objections arise from the company admitted and the liberties taken in the dancing room, but these would be avoided by placing the management with the church and the superintendence with the Ministry. Our young people must and will have amusement and is it not the duty of the church to control these amusements and sanctify them to the glory of God, if possible.

FROM GEORGIA.

Atlanta, Feb. 12.—The Legislature to-day passed almost unanimously, a resolution to elect Representatives to Congress on the first Monday in April.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, Feb. 12.—A dispatch from Jefferson, Texas, reports the burning of the steamer Millie Stephens, in Caddo Lake, Red River, last night, at midnight. Sixty-three lives were lost, among them W. A. Brandwell and T. L. Lyon, and his son Frank, of New Orleans. The survivors, forty-three in number, were taken to Jefferson on the steamer Dixie. The boat and cargo are a total loss. Amount not ascertained.

A Good Day's Work.—The New York World, of the 16th, says: Commodore Vanderbilt made ten million dollars in one day recently; so it was stated in open court yesterday. If this is true, and it probably is, it is undoubtedly the largest sum ever made in the same time by one man since the beginning of history.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Blackburn introduced a resolution removing the political disabilities of all persons in the United States imposed by the 14th amendment, which was referred to the Reconstruction Committee.

DARBY'S Prophylactic Fluid.

Letter from Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Ga. to the Hon. Wm. A. Stephens, of Ga. dated Sept. 29th, 1868.
Darby's Prophylactic Fluid is an article of little cost, but great value. It is domestic as well as medicinal uses are numerous, while its specialties are most wonderful. I have not been without it for ten years, and no head of a family who can afford to have it should be without it. ALEX. H. STEPHENS.

The Wonderful Family Medicine.

Letter from the Surgeon General of the Late Confederate States.
Richmond, Va., Jan. 14, 1869.
Jno. Darby & Co., No. 150 William St., N. Y.
Gentlemen: I have received your letter of the 15th of December, 1868, calling my attention to your (Darby's) Prophylactic Fluid.
I most cheerfully state the Fluid was furnished to, and extensively used by the Surgeons in charge of General Hospitals in the Confederate Service with great benefit to the patients—and the surgeons making a favorable report—a great deal of it was used in the hospitals.
Very Respectfully Your Ob't Serv't,
SAM'L PRESTON MOORE, M. D.

THE ASTONISHING DISINFECTANT!

EMERY COLLEGE, OXFORD, GA.
December 28th, 1868.

Prof. Darby, Dear Sir:—Having not been engaged for many years in the active duties of the Medical Profession, I am only superficially acquainted with the claims of your Prophylactic Fluid, but am well acquainted with its cleanliness and efficacy. While, therefore, I cannot speak experimentally of the value of the compound, yet the disinfecting and Therapeutic properties supplied in its composition, together with the well known reputation of its discoverer, as a chemist, authorize me to regard its merits as of a high order—on the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of our competent judges, who have tested its properties.

Believe me, Dear Sir,

Yours Respectfully,
A. MEANS, M. D., LL. D.

ALABAMA INFANTRY HOSPITAL,
Tuscaloosa, Dec. 22, 1868.

Messrs. John Darby & Co., 150 William St., N. Y.
Gentlemen:—I received your Circulars of the 10th inst., asking an expression of opinion from me as to the merits of your Prophylactic Fluid. The preparation has been so generally used by the profession and public at large, and so universally esteemed, that it is unnecessary to me to need no further recommendation.

As a Disinfectant, and remedial agent, too, when indicated, it is not excelled by any similar preparation. We use prophylactic preparations very extensively in this Hospital, and could not do without them. I consider yours the best and most elegant preparation of the kind manufactured.

Respectfully,
R. F. WYLY, M. D.,
Surgeon of the Alabama Inf. H. Hospital.

A Perfect Pain Killer.

WESTERN FEMALE COLLEGE,
Fayetteville, Va., Jan. 14, 1869.

Prof. Darby:—When I was President of the Lafayette College at Fayetteville, Va., I used your Prophylactic Fluid in a large number of cases with decided success, such as a dissection and as a remedy for sore and burns, &c., and was efficacious and proved to be what it is represented. Every family and public institution ought to have it. I wish you great success in the sale of it.

WM. A. HARRIS, D. D.,
Prof. W. F. College, Staunton, Va.

Never was there a family medicine so highly recommended as this. Try it and you will never regret it.

Let every family merchant visiting New York this Spring put this article on his list, but don't wait—Order it at once.

And so we might fill this entire paper with recommendations from the very best men in the country.

There is no question that this is a most wonderful and useful article as a disinfectant, and for wounds, sore burns, poisons, &c., as a tooth wash, general purifier, &c., &c.

Every Druggist or Country Merchant has it for sale.

Repeal of the Civil Tenure Law.

Respecting the civil tenure question very decidedly active canvass has been made of the Senate, and within three days the aspect of the matter has materially changed. The situation of the Senate a week ago, by direct evidence, stood twenty-eight for repeal to thirty-eight against it. The carpet-baggers, however, have been generally secured by the friends of Grant, by being told that a vote against repeal forfeited all claims to patronage under the new administration. As things now stand they will vote for the repeal unless brought up by the ins before a week and held to the bargain in black and white for money down. All the Senators who voted for impeachment will vote to sustain the law, except Morton and perhaps Sherman. All the Radicals who voted against impeachment will support the repeal except, perhaps, Trumbull. This makes the vote against repeal probably thirty-three, and the vote for repeal, if the carpet-baggers go for it, thirty, leaving three Senators in doubt. As Mr. Thayer is known to favor repeal, the doubtful are reduced to two, viz: Messrs. Ferry and Frelinghuysen. On this question it is plain that the carpet-baggers hold the balance of power, and they are in the market. On the whole, the prospect is in favor of repeal. To-night Mr. Morton is in disguise of repeal. Mr. Williams is skeptical that the law will stand. It all depends on the Southern Senators. The older Radicals, Wade, Sumner, Chandler, Howard, and Pomroy, are personally requesting the carpet-baggers to stand by the law, while Fowler, Grimes, and other Senators are demanding that if the Southern men expect anything from Grant they must rescind the law. The House Radicals are using the same arguments. The excitement to-night is earnest, and the return of Mr. Henderson, whose one vote may decide the matter, is awaited with interest.

Wash. Cor. N. Y. World.

"Mack" in a letter to the Cincinnati Enquirer of the 13th, says:

The members of the House of Representatives find themselves in a worse plight, through the Tenure-of-office Bill, than they hoped to leave Andy Johnson in when they enacted that remarkable specimen of modern legislation—Even-handed justice is about to commend the poisoned chalice to their own lips. The Senate refuses to repeal the act, and is not likely soon to yield that refusal, for while the act remains in force the Federal patronage is practically taken away from the members of the House and kept at the disposal of the Senate. Under the old system of appointments and removals a member could get the President to make what changes he pleased in his district, but under the Tenure Bill the first man to be consulted is the Senator from the State in which the change is proposed. It was to give its own Republican members facilities for helping their friends to office. The Senate very well understands the advantages it possesses as the matter stands, and is not likely to relinquish the control it now has. The effect as to Ohio is to make John Sherman the arbiter of every office seeker's fate, and thus, of course, to give him a tremendous lever to assist in his own re-election two years hence. No change can be made without Sherman's consent first had and obtained. There is talk that the House is likely to make a direct issue with the Senate on this question. The only way by which it can be done, so far as I can see, is for the House to adopt the repealing clause as an amendment to an appropriation bill, and by refusing to recede, compel the Senate to choose. Behind indorsing its action and stopping the wheels of government for want of appropriation. Such means have often been resorted to before, and the Senate has generally been compelled to surrender. What it will do in this case, should the attempt be made, as I have indicated, remains to be seen.

Retribution.

A chain of singular and just coincidences.

A singular chain of coincidences in connection with the brutal assault made by some ruffians of Blount county upon the Rev. Mr. Neal, a minister of the gospel, of the Methodist Church South, last year, and which was fully reported in our columns, has just been communicated to us.

It will be remembered that while returning from divine service he was set upon by a gang of desperadoes, stripped, tied to a tree, and brutally flogged with hickory switches, for no other offense than his connection with what these truly loyal villains were pleased to term a rebel church.

The civil authorities being loyal, sympathized with them rather than with their innocent victim, and the strong arm of the law was never invoked against them. But a stronger power than that which administers human law witnessed their crime, and in the mysterious dispensation of this providence, has brought retribution upon them.

We learn that out of the entire number of ruffians, three have since died, one was recently thrown from his horse and received injuries which are believed to be mortal, while another is now lying in jail from crime.

Even the tree to which Mr. Neal was tied by his persecutors has been smitten by the same unseen, but ever watchful power, and is dead.

Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small.

Though with patience He stands waiting, with exactness grinds He all.

Frightful Marine Disaster.

Loss of the Steamer Mittie Stephens by Fire on Red River.

Of 106 Passengers 63 are Lost—Terrible Scenes on Board—Shrieks of the Dying—Dire Confusion—Full Particulars of the Accident—List of the Lost.

From the New Orleans Times, 14th.

THE TRIP.

At the time the accident occurred the Mittie Stephens was on her way to Jefferson Texas, with a large consignment of Government stores on board, some $30,000 in specie, perhaps some money in greenbacks for paying off two or three regiments upon the frontier, and a large amount of hay. The hay was placed as is frequently done, four tiers deep upon the boiler deck. The danger from the accidental ignition of this mass of inflammable material was not unknown to the passengers, but appears to have occasioned no protest.

County Site of Etowah.
Under the law, creating the new County of Etowah, the people of that county will have to vote on the first Tuesday in March next on the question of the location of the County site. Gadsden and the Junction are again in nomination. Gadsden having once before been selected by a large majority, it is reasonable to suppose it will be again. The same caused which heretofore operated in favor of its selection still exist, only in a greater degree. It has increased considerably in improvements, population and value to the people of the County as a market. It is the most desirable and central point. To injure and cripple the market emporium of the county, at this late day for the doubtful experiment of building up another place would certainly be insane policy similar in fact to that of the man who thinned out his large corn to give the little a chance to grow. Besides great inducements are offered in the donation of a court-house square, and alternate lots on sixty acres of land. One lot in Gadsden would no doubt be worth more to the County than five at any other point. But we suppose that these and many other advantages, have long since been duly considered by the people; and that there is little danger of their throwing away the opportunity of making in their County a beautiful city, and one of the finest markets in the State.

It will be seen by reference to the advertisement of Dr. Bird Paine's Medicines, that they may now be obtained at the Store of J. M. Carroll & Co. These medicines have heretofore proven very efficacious and popular.

The List required to be published by the Judge of Probate, by the 11th section of the late Revenue Law, will be published in our next paper.

At a public meeting this day held, this being the day to which the Farmers and Mechanics Meeting was adjourned, the following proceedings were had:

J. R. Clark, Chairman, called the meeting to order. Report of the Committee on Agricultural was called for. Whereupon J. C. McAuley, one of the committee submitted a report, which being read, was on motion, and after some argument, adopted by the meeting, without a dissenting voice.

J. P. Grant, one of the Committee on Mechanics, then read a report from that Committee, which was on motion adopted.

On motion of J. C. McAuley, it was resolved that the meeting now organize an association to be called The Agricultural, Mechanical, and Manufacturing Association, of Calhoun county Ala.

On motion of M. W. Abernathy, a committee was appointed to draft and report to this meeting a constitution for the government of said association, and report the names of farmers suited to fill the respective offices provided for by said constitution.

Said committee after a short absence reported a constitution—which upon motion was unanimously adopted.

Said Committee also recommended, for President, J. C. McAuley, 1st Vice President, Col. Washington Williams, 2d Vice President, E. T. Read, 3d Vice President, M. W. Abernathy, 4th Vice President, A. Adams.

For Secretaries J. F. Grant, and George I. Turnley. For Corresponding Secretary W. Pellham—and for Treasurer B. C. Wyle.

On motion each of said officers so recommended were unanimously elected.

The Association then adjourned to meet on the 1st Monday of April 1899, at this place.

JACKSONVILLE, Ala. Feb. 24, '99
Editor Republican,

Your correspondent, after a long silence, begs leave to return his thanks to the corporate authorities of this town, for the repairs made last fall upon the public square and streets, (including side walks)—and doubtless the public duly appreciate their labors. But it is to be regretted, that their efforts at repairing and improving the condition of the streets, were rather spasmodic in character. All seems to be over—and for want of a little attention a considerable portion of what has been done, is rapidly decaying, or giving way—and will soon be so dilapidated as to be of little benefit. No regular, permanent system of labor has been adopted, without which the work cannot be economically and successfully prosecuted. Why is no regular, permanent system of working the streets adopted by the authorities? Can you answer? Economy demands it. The interests and prosperity of the Town demand it.

But, whatever may be the manner of system of labor, why stop the good work? It is said, that recently some changes have been made in the board of Councilmen—Is this so? Is it a Radical change? Nothing short of this, in the manner, the system of operating on the public works here, will put the streets in a proper state of repair. Has this change come? Will it come? when? Will the corporate authorities, just with the minds eye, notice the little girls, young ladies, and teachers, as they trip so prettily through the mud at the crossing, from the north east corner of office row, and along by the Episcopal church to north west corner of Col. Vernon's yard, thence to the gate at the Academy, and thence to the doors of the building? What a nice trim for their pretty little feet, hose and balmorals? A nice job, gentlemen Corporation! How long? O how long! Respectfully,
CROSS TIE.

Appropo to the foregoing, and to town and country in this section, we publish the following stanzas, alleged to have been written by Burns, have lately published in the Scotch papers:

BURNS ON CAIRN WATH ROADS.
I'm here at length, thanks to the gods!
Thro' roads built deep and muddy!
A plain proof this that makin' roads
Is not the public duty.

And tho' I'm not wif' gospel cramm'd
The Bible plainly says
That poeple surely shall be d—d
Who do not mend their ways.

The Seven ancient Wonders.

They were: The brass Colossus at Rhodes, 121 feet high, built by Ceres, A. D. 288, occupying twenty years in making. It stood across the harbor at Rhodes, and was then thrown down by an earthquake. It was bought by a Jew from the Saracens, who loaded 900 camels with brass.
2. The pyramids of Egypt. The largest one engaged 300,000 workmen, was 50 years in building, and has now stood at least 3,000 years.
3. The aqueducts of Rome, invented by Appian Claudius, the Censor.
4. Labyrinth of P-almetichus, on the banks of the Nile, containing within one inclosure 1,000 houses and 12 royal palaces, all covered with marble and having only one entrance. The building was said to contain 30,000 chambers and a hall built of marble adorned with statues of the gods.
5. The Pharos of Alexandria, a tower of Ptolemy Philadelphus, in the year 172 b-c before Christ. It was erected as a light-house, and contained magnificent galleries of marble, a large lantern at the top, the light of which was seen nearly a hundred miles off. Mirrors of an enormous size were fixed around the galleries, reflecting everything in this sea. A common tower is now erected in the same place.
6. The walls of Babylon, built by order of Semiramis or Nebuchadnezzar, and finished in one year by 200,000 men. They were of immense thickness.
7. The Temple of Diana, at Ephesus, completed in the reign of Servius the sixth king of Rome. It was 450 feet long, 200 broad, and was supported by 128 marble pillars.

WHAT ENERGY CAN DO.
The present proprietors of Darby's Prophylactic Fluid, commenced publishing that famous article into the market about four months ago. Two weeks ago an agent left New York with a supply of it for the far off shores of China. Last week we saw another large shipment of it, accompanied by a special agent on board the California steamer at New York, bound for the Pacific coast. We saw in their office in New York a few days ago the son of the King of Aganion, from the West coast of Africa, getting a quantity of it to take home with him, and on the next day two native Missionaries from Sierra Leone for the same purpose. This week a gentleman left with samples to introduce to the attention of the owners of Liverpool, London, Paris and Antwerp. It is already in Havana. Correspondence has been opened with Brazil. The leading hospitals in New York city are using it. Those in charge of Commercials are finding it indispensable. Steps have been taken to put forth the claims for Professor John Darby for the discovery of the disinfecting qualities of penicillanic acid, a question now agitating the savans of the old world—and so it goes. Pluck, energy, and merit will take.

DARBY'S Prophylactic Fluid.

Letter from Hon. Alex. H. Stephens, of Ga. CHATTAHOOCHEE, GA. Sept. 29th. 1898.

Darby's Prophylactic Fluid is an article of little cost, but great value. Its domestic as well as medicinal uses are numerous, while its specialties are most wonderful. I have not been without it for ten years, and no head of a family who can afford to have it should be without it. ALEX. H. STEPHENS.

The Wonderful Family Medicine.

Letter from the Surgeon General of the late Confederate States.

Richmond, Va., Jan'y 14, 1869.

Genl. Darby & Co. No. 100 William St. N. Y. Gentlemen: I have received your letter of the 15th of December, 1866, calling my attention to your (Darby's) Prophylactic Fluid.

I most cheerfully state the Fluid was furnished to me, and extensively used by the Surgeons in charge of General Hospitals in the Confederate Service with great benefit to the patients—all the surgeons of high order—on the whole it must be considered as a valuable contribution to the class of articles to which it belongs.

These views, I may add, are sustained by the testimony of many competent judges, who have tested its properties.

Believe me, dear Sir, Yours Respectfully,
A. MEANS, M. D., LL. D.

ALABAMA INSANE HOSPITAL, CHATTAHOOCHEE, Dec. 27, 1898.

Meets John Darby & Co. No. 100 William St. N. Y. Gentlemen: I received your Circular of the 10th inst., asking an expression of opinion from me as to the merits of your Prophylactic Fluid. The preparation has been generally used by the profession and public at large, and so universally esteemed, that it seems to me to need no further recommendation.

As a Disinfectant, and remedial agent, too, when indicated, it is an excellent remedy, and similar preparation. We use penicillanic preparations very extensively in this hospital, and could not do without them. I consider yours the best and most elegant preparation of the kind manufactured.

Respectfully,
J. F. GRANT, Local Agent at Jacksonville.

A Perfect Pain Killer.

WESTERN FEMALE COLLEGE, CHATTAHOOCHEE, Ala., Jan. 9, 1899.

Prof. Darby:—When I was President of the L. G. Female College of Georgia, I used your Prophylactic Fluid in the College with decided success, both as a disinfectant and as a remedy for sores and burns, etc. It was efficacious and proved to be what it is represented. Every family and public institution ought to have it. I wish you great success in the sale of it.

W. M. A. HARRIS, D. D., Pres. W. F. College, Staunton, Va.

Never was there a family medicine so highly recommended as this. Try it and you will never regret it.

Let every Country merchant visiting New York this Spring put this article on his list. But don't wait—Order it at once.

And so we might fill this entire paper with recommendations from the very best men in the country.

There is no question that this is a most wonderful and useful article as a disinfectant, and for wounds, sores, burns, etc. It is a tooth-wash, general purifier, etc. Every Druggist or Country Merchant has it for sale.

Orders filled by the proprietors.

HONESTY is the best Policy.

I have many old debts due me. Some may not be able to pay, but some others can pay. An honest man will pay if he can, no matter what the lines may be, or whether there is any law or not, on the subject. I call on all them, who owe me old debts, and who can possibly do so, to make payment. I have not been hard with you, and do not wish to be so, but I need my money. Then do your duty in the matter. A good name is better than gold.

Respectfully,
E. L. WOODWARD.

CASH.

We sell Goods as cheap as can be afforded for CASH. And if we give time, it is intended to be short, and CASH prices are charged. We do not intend in any case, to give long credits, as in days of yore. Hence we expect rigid punctuality. We must have all the money due us soon, or suffer inconvenience and loss. Those who owe us then, will please call and make payment.

Respectfully,
E. L. WOODWARD & SON.

POETRY.

GONE TO SLEEP.

Come hither, my baby, my darling,
My lily, my wonderful rose!
The white-bosomed flowers in the garden
Begin their soft petals to close;
The bees have gone home from the clover
The swallows are under the eaves,
And down in the orchard the robin
Broods over her nest in the leaves.

Come hither, baby, my beauty, my darling!
Your eyes are heavy with sleep;
Your little red mouth has grown silent,
And scarcely its laughter can keep;
Lay off the white robe from your shoulders
Unclasp the small shoes from your feet
Oh, dainty blossom of Eden,
I kiss you, my lily, my sweet!

Do you feel the cold wind coming softly,
And see the young moon in the sky?
The clouds sailing over the sunset,
The bats flitting silently by?
Do you hear how the cattle are lowing
Along the green lane by the hill?
And the brook running over the pebbles
With music that never is still!

Now hush while I sing to you, baby,
A song of the angels above,
That come on invisible pinions
To watch o'er the children they love.
So all through your beautiful dreaming,
The voice of your mother shall creep,
Lest hearing the harpings celestial,
Your soul should fly homeward in sleep!

Retribution.

A Startling Instance of the Justice
of Heaven.

From the Bay City (Ohio) Forum,
Feb. 13.

The retributive justice of Heaven has never been more clearly shown or exemplified than in the fate of the Judge
and jury who acquitted the murderer of the lamented Bolmeier.

The circumstances surrounding the case are too well known to justify rehearsal at this time. Briefly, a brutal beast bearing the name of Brown, in cold blood, and without the slightest provocation, assassinated Bolmeier on a public street at Dayton, in broad daylight, in the presence of numerous witnesses, for the only reason that Bolmeier
was the editor-in-chief of the Dayton Empire, a democratic paper. Brown, being fearful of the just indignation of
the people of Montgomery County,
prayed for a change of venue, had the case transferred to the loyal County of Miami, after a mock trial was acquitted
by a jury organized for that purpose by a local court and Sheriff, notwithstanding the proof of guilt was incontrovertible
and overwhelming.

This was the judgment of man. Now witness the judgment of Almighty God!
Every jurymen on that panel that acquitted Brown of the murder of Bolmeier
has since been bereft of reason
and of natural death, or committed suicide, and as a fitting expiation to this arch of retributive justice, Judge Parsons, who presided over the mock trial,
died a few days since a horrible death
in the Lunatic Asylum at Dayton.

Verily those who "sow the wind shall reap the whirlwind."

The Telegraph as a Thief Catcher.

The World says the New York Express is moralizing in the fact that a kna-vish Chinaman in California ("Honk-Kee") having contracted the barbarian
vice of swindling, has cheated sundry merchants in San Francisco out of $18,
000 and, getting on board the Pacific
Mail steamship, fleeing to the Central Flower Kingdom. In this way he hoped to put between himself and those whom he had robbed, first, some 10, 000 miles of ocean, but

"A telegram from San Francisco
learns the tidings of his crime to New York. New York sends it by cable across the Atlantic to London, London through France and under the Mediterranean to Alexandria, Alexandria by the Red Sea
and the Persian Gulf to Bombay, Bombay to Ceylon, and Ceylon by the Peninsula and Oriental steamers to China.
So that when Hong-Kee trips lightly
down the ship's gangway at Hong-Kong
or Shanghai, dreaming of opium and many-eyed daughters of the Sun in the Land of Flowers, his plaid soul will be disconcerted by the tap of a bamboo on the shoulder and a voice of doom will murder an ungentle summons in his ear."

Wherefore exclaims the "World"—
"Poor Hong-Kee! The bad morals
of the Christians have corrupted him,
and in the steam engine of that Christianity has been put his hope. But the literal 'chain-lightning' of the Christians
is after him, to outstrip their steamship
and to teach him in sorrow and in shame
how much better is a pot of honest rice
and the teachings of Confucius there-
with, than many thousands of illegal dollars and a warrant of arrest therewith!"

Smallpox prevails quite extensively throughout Minnesota, and there is much alarm.

The smallpox is said to prevail
alarmingly at St. Louis, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Chicago.

A man with a scolding wife, on
being asked what he did for a living,
replied that he kept a hot-house.
